BELDEN IS FOR DEPEW.

FOR GOVERNOR OF THIS STATE.

THE SYRACUSE CONGRESSMAN WANTS . AN EARLY CONVENTION-LEAGUE OFFI-CERS HARD AT WORK.

IBY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE. syracuse, June 23 .- The officers of the National Republican League and of the State Republican League lubs, in their journey through the State organizing Republican clubs for the approaching important State election, arrived in this city this afternoon. were met at the station by prominent Republicans and corted to the Globe Hotel. Great interest was shown in the visit by Senator Frank Hiscock and Congressman James J. Belden and other leading Republicans, and hearty ald was given to them in their work here. Ex-Congressman Belden was present at a conference held by the officers of the League previous to a public meet-ing which they were to address this evening, and exessed some views respecting the political situation "I am glad you are in this State of high interest. making this tour," said Mr. Belden, "because I think you will wake the popular desire in this State among Republicans for immediate organized work in behalf of the Republican party. If I can read popular sentiment aright, there is at the present time a great wave f Republican feeling passing over the United States. There wasn't a Republican in Syracuse who did not regret that he could not have been present at the great nvention in Columbus when Major McKinley was nominated for Governor of Ohio. "The enthusiasm in Ohio among Republicans is also present among the Republicans of New-York. Why, ast night, in Cortland, they held a Republican meeting, which, to every one's surprise, was attended by over 400 voters, and they only had a local speaker, Assemblyman Kennedy, of Syracuse, and the night was a very hot one. Every one would have said, before that meeting was held, that it would not be attended by over a baker's dozen of people. People come into my office every day and inquire when the Republican campaign is to begin. They are deeply interested in it. We should take advantage of this Republican boom and force the tighting in this State. I am glad you are going to hold the League and State Conventions here in August. Go on and organize your clubs and hold a big convention. I hope that your example and energy will lead the Republican State Committee to call an early Republican State Convention, one that shall be held in the middle of August. It will not do for us to neglect to foster the present Republican boom and postpone our Republican State Convention until late in September and then hold it some cold day at Saratoga and make a perfunctory nomination for Governor. No. what we should have in this State is an aggressive campaign and one begun early enough for us to organize our party. Our county committee are not organized until after the State Convention is held and therefore if the convention is held late the campaign work begins late.

My personal opinion is that the man we ought to nominate for Governor is Chauncey M. Depew. With im as our candidate we can sweep the State. obvious that the Democrats intend to nominate R. P. Flower for Governor. Think of the contrast upon the stump between Chauncey M. Depew, a great orator already secured a goodly number. if there ever was one, and Roswell P. Flower. Will Depew accept? I don't know, but I would go shead and nominate him without consulting him. He would be nominated by acclamation and in that case I believe he would accept. In my opinion he is too good a Republican to refuse a nomination thus the unanimous voice of his party. He is our McKinley, our man with the electric nd attractive qualities necessary to carry the State at this opportune time. It is a great opportunity, and I hope the Republican party will rise to the occasion and cominate Mr. Depew, carry the State of New-York, and in advance of 1892 give us the next Presidency."

The leaders of the League, Edward A. McAlpin, the president of the State organization; Timothy J. Byrnes, hief organizer, and A. B. Humphrey, secretary of the National League; John S. Smith and Henry Gleason, members of the State League, in the afternoon also held conference with officers of various Republican clubs of Onondaga, Oswego and Cortland counties at the rooms of the Syracuse Republican Club. Several of the Syracuse Republican clubs were represented. speeches were made by Messrs, Byrnes, Smith, Humphrey and Gleason, at which the methods to be used phrey and Gleason, at which the methods to be used in organizing Republican clubs were stated, and appeals were made to those present to go to work at once. The advantage to the Republican party of having their clubs was clearly stated and had such an effect that a committee representing all the local clubs was appointed to organize new clubs. This evening the same gentlemen addressed a large Republican meeting at Music Hall at which the club idea was again expressed. An eloquent speech followed from exceptions and Republican ideas. Mr. Horr's speech was much relished and was frequently applanded.

TAMMANY LEADERS GROWING NERVOUS. TRYING IN VAIN TO COVER UP DISORGANIZA-TION IN THEIR RANKS.

Rumors of dissension and discontent within Tam many Hall have been so constant of late that the Wigwam bosses are greatly troubled and are casting about for some means to counter-act the impression that the organization is on the eve of disruption. Among these reports is one which gives the Tummany leaders special uneasiness. This is the statement that Richard Croker has become tired of the constant snubbing he has received and means soon to sever his connection with the The bosses became so worked up by this ramor that they had their afternoon organ yesterday make an "official denial" that anything was wrong in Tammany Hall. It was authorized, it said, "b; Mesers. Gilroy, Martin, Cockran, Fitzgerald, Mitchell. and in fact every leader in Tammany Hall, to say that the members were never in such perfect harmony and that their confidence in Mr. Croker's ability ha increased instead of diminished." The organ was also "authorized to announce that resolutions to that effect will be offered and undoubtedly unanimously passed at a called meeting of the organization." This meeting, which is of the Tammany Committee of Twenty-four, is already "called," and will take place at 3:30 p. m. to-day at the Fourteenth-st, tepee. The weakness of the effort to cover up the present disorganized state of the Wigwam will probably I apparent even to those who are at work upon it before the resolutions, which will be passed this afternoon, are sent out for circulation. The disintegration which is going on and which forebodes certain defeat to the Tammany ticket cannot be arrested by "whereases" and "resolves."

THE XIIITH DISTRICT COMMITTEE ORGANIZED. The headquarters of the Union Republican Club, No. 269 Eighth-ave., were crowded last night with enthusiastic Republicans who were there to attend the organization of the XIIIth District Republican Com-mittee, which had been declared elected at the primary of June 15, by resolution of the Republican County Committee on Thursday evening. Donald McLean, representing the sub-committee of the County Committee which had supervised the primary, congratulated those present on the happy result of the contest, and surrendered the chair to Thomas L. Hamilton, who was elected president of the rehabilitated organ-Resolutions were adopted thanking the Republican County Committee for its honorable and just dision in relation to the controversy which has ommittee of five, James W. Hawes chairman, for the fair and even handed way in which it had dis charged its complicated and trying duties. Donald McLean came in for special and honorable mention as a member of this committee. The chairman aned the passage of the resolutions and called on Mr. McLean, who made an eloquent response, expressing his thanks for the kind allusion made to the pressing his thanks for the kind allusion made to the services of himself and his associates on the sub-committee. James King Duffy, the member of the Executive Committee for the district, was introduced and made a telling speech. Besides those already mentioned, there were present ex-Senator Gibbs, Henry Clinton Backus, ex-Assemblyman F. B. House, Dr. T. K. Tuthill, Police Justice Meade, Henry Hirsch, H. E. Lindsay and E. M. Fisher.

THE COWIE MEN WILL KEEP UP THE FIGHT. The Executive Committee of the Cowie Republicans of the Xillith Assembly District met at No. 292 Eighth-ave. last evening, their regular headquarters, to define their policy and prepare for the campaign. About forty members, mostly election district cap-tains, were present. In the absence of Henry E. Sprague, Charles T. Polhemus was called to preside. Resolutions offered by ex-Alderman James A. Cowie adopted reciting the grievances of the faction, calling in question the fairness of the recent primary. and declaring that the result will perpetuate the dissensions which exist among Republicans in the district. It was resolved to continue the present organization and to nominate candidates to go before the people at the polis so that the voters of the district decide at the November election the issues which divide the Gibbs and Cowie factions. Speeches were made by Mr. Cowle and several of his supporters reiterating charges of unfairness in the conduct of the recent primary. Letters were read whose writers alleged that they had been offered money by the Gibbs side to vote that ticket. A committee with Knox McAfee as

Mr. Michener declared that as yet the President had signified to no one that he desired a omination. That the President did desire a renomination, however, he had no doubt. "It is only nat ural," he said, in explanation, "that he should.

wonldn't ?" Mr. Michener says he has no doubt of Republica success next year. Asked upon what he based his strong hopes, he replied: "Upon the fact that no Administration since the war ever made in the first two years of its existence so enviable a record as has Mr. Harrison's. It has been a surprise to many, and more surprises are in store. Take the foreign policy : it has been vigorous and popular. A vast amount of legislation has been accomplished. The Government has been carried on economically, and the country is now on the eve of an era of great prosperity. last January 1 the uplifting in favor of Mr. Harrison has been great and is increasing daily. The McKin ley hill is becoming a great good. The people are understanding it, and the feeling which last fall existed against it is disappearing."

THE FARCE STILL GOES ON.

CANAL CONTRACTORS SAY THEY LOSE MONEY.

AND YET THEY ARE READY TO TAKE THE WORK-MORE PROOF, IF ANY BE NEEDED,

> OF THE CHARACTER OF THE INVESTIGATION.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.]

Albany, June 23 .- If there was anything needed in the way of proof that D. B. Hill's alleged canal investigation was arranged and operated simply to bam boozle the public, to-day's session furnished it. The morning session was devoted to listening to Democratic contractors, who swore that it was a losing game all the way through to take State contracts; that everything was fair and above board in the letting, t somehow the inspection was so rigorous that they almost always lost money. Not one of them made more than a pretence at explaining how it was that contractors made little or nothing on their canal contracts, and not one could satisfactorily explain how it hap-pened that there never was a lack of bidders for these same contracts on which they were so sure to lose.

James Hughes, of the firm of Hughes Brothers, of Syracuse, proved the star witness of the morning session, for he asserted that the history of canal and other State contracts was marked and annotated with the failures of contractors who had ruined themselves by attempting to work for the State. "Of all the appropriations made during the last five years," quoth Mr. Hughes, "so much less than 1 per cent has found its way into the pockets of contractors as profits that it is a mere bagatelle, a mere bagatelle." It may be said that the Hughes Brothers are still ready to bid for these worthless contracts and have

It was reserved for the afternoon session to reveal how hollow is the committee's pretence of honest investigation. W. E. Churchill, formerly Editor of "The Mohawk Independent," a Democrat who stood high in the estimation of his party during the campaign of Warner Miller against Hill, had been summoned before the Hill tribunal to answer for his sins in publishing some plain facts about the way Section Superintendent Wood and his clerk, S. D. Casey, ran things in and about Herkimer County. He had stated that the esti-mates and pay-rolls bore fictitious charges; that Clerk Casey, besides doing clerical work for Superintendent Wood, was drawing pay as a laborer on the canals; that a relative of Casey's who was a habitual drunkard had been employed as a watchman, and made other similar charges, some of which were read by Senator Sheard during the deadlock discussions, and to which he called aftention when on the stand some days ago. Editor Churchill came down unattended, nor did this fair and honorable committee see fit to subpoena single resident of Herkimer County who might be able to help ferret out the doings of these canal Democrats On the contrary, they brought down at the expense of the State a gang of over twenty witnesses stify to the immaculate purity of Superintendent Wood, Casey and the canal administration in general. Among them was a "Doc" Vedder, who, Churchill said, had once chased him through the streets lourishing a revolver and threatening to kill him. For this Vedder had been indicted. Churchill privately stated in the afternoon that, while awaiting his call to the stand, Vedder and threatened to "lick" him if he could get him out in the corridor. Such was the array which confronted Churchill all the morning, and, though he had all his articles with him and was prepared in the morning to "face the music," which meant political estracism for him, and had already lost him his place on "The Independent," it is not supprising that he weakened, and under the careful manipulation of Counsellor McMahon and others took the stand in the afternoon simply as a feature in the great farce. Assemblyman Gould had a quiet conversation with Churchill in the morning and then went directly to McMahon and spoke to him, presumably of a plan to let Churchill down easy and gloss over the charges. At least so Churchill understood the matter, both then and after his examination, which had every appearance of a prearranged affair. Churchill was sternly interrogated as to the $60 expense item which Clerk Casey had in his account of April, 1890; and then witness were brought up in quick succession who swore the charge was not excessive; that Casey had a right to make it, and that it was the usual thing for officials of his grade to hire one or two horses and sometimes a driver to take them along the canal. Not a word did Counsellor McMahon have to say about the drunken relative on the pay-roll, not a query about the other charges; nor was Churchill asked by any member of the committee to read his articles or explain his charges. So anxious was the young Rome attorney to get him off the stand that he excused him two or three times before the committee was ready to let him go.

"What's the use," said Churchill, pathetically, after he had left the stand, half apologizing for his weakness, "for me to have those thirty fellows all jumping on me?"

It was so much of a transfer or anxious was to much of a transfer or anxious means.

ness, "for me to have those thirty lemows an jumping on me?"

It was so much of a farce—this examination of Churchill—that even McMahon could not restrain a smile as he hastened to bring forward his coup d'etat, which was a weak attempt to prove, by means of one Republican and half-a-dozen Democrats living all the way from Little Falls to Illion, and adjacent Herkinner County villages, that Senstor Sheard tried to get his bill for a $20,000 vertical wall through, for the purpose of giving a friend named Russell a place to pile lumber, and not to benefit the canal and adjacent highway. This attempt occupied all the afternoon, and afforded the young attorner who had been down and inspected the place much satisfaction.

The committee, however, looked bored as usual.

J. T. Maguire, who has for a long time been treasurer of the Bijou and Fourteenth Street Theatres, has resigned that place.

FUND FOR THE FLOATING HOSPITAL.

The Floating Hospital of St. John's Guild for sick children and their mothers will resume its daily trips on July 1. The Seaside Hospital will open on the same date. Already many mothers with sick children have sought admission to these hospitals, and the indications are that they will be crowded. Arrangements have been made to care for over 40,000 poor mothers and children this summer; and the work is only limited by the means at the guild's disposal.

The fund is gradually increasing, but a large amount is still required to defray the cost of this gratutious and wholly non-secturian work. The drug store and the trustees acknowledge the following contributions: will prelably dis.

BLAZE IN THE DRY-GOODS DISTRICT.

THREE ALARMS SENT OUT-THE DAMAGE ABOUT

A fire broke out last night in the six-story brick and stone building Nos. 130 and 132 Reade-st., and Nos. 13, 15, 17 and 19 Hudson-st., in the heart of the dry-goods district. The building, which forms an L, is occupied by Thurber, Whyland & Co.'s butter and cheese department, the Matchiess Lighting Company, the Michigan Condensed Milk Company, Dryden Palmer, rock-candy manufacturers, and James Cremer, a wholesale boot and shoe dealer. Mr. cremer occupies the whole upper part of Nos. 17 and 19 Hudson-st., and it was in his premises that the flames were first seen by Officer Sadlier. An alarm turned in, but when the firemen arrived the fire had got a firm hold of the building and was burning furiously.

Chief Bonner sent out a second and a third alarm. It was not, however, until the fiames had burst through the roof and the upper part of the building had be completely burned out that the fire was got under The damage to the building will exceed $10,000. Mr. Cremer loses $10,000, while Thurber Whyland & Co., the Matchless Lighting Company, Dryden & Palmer and the Michigan Condensed Milk company each sustain a loss of about $2,000. Engine No. 29, while turning the corner of Church and Fulton sts., struck against the curbstone and was overturned. Two firemen, Charles Thompson and Michael Crowley, were thrown out. Thompson sus-tained a slight cut on his hand, while Crowley has a scalp wound.

OFFICERS OF THE STATE FARMERS' LEAGUE UNANIMOUSLY DENOUNCE IT.

Albany, June 23 .- At a meeting of the officers of the New-York State Farmers' League, held here to day, the third party movement was unanimously deced. A committee was appointed, of which Pres dent Armstrong Is chairman, to call a delegated meet ing of the State League, to be held in Agricultural Hall in this city in the early part of August, to discuss future legislation and political action.

THE WIDOW OF FOWIN FORREST DEAD.

An almost forgotten actress, still better known in her time as the wife of one of the greatest of American actors, died a week ago vesterday at the home of a friend, No. 62 West Eighty-fourth-st. It was Catherine W. Sinclair, the widow of Edwin Forrest. She was seventy-four years old. She was an Englishwoman, the daughter of a singer, John Sinclair. She was married to Forrest in England in 1837 and came to this country with her husband. After living together for something over eleven years they separated on account of a misunderstanding caused by jealousy on the part of Mr. Forrest. Three years later Mr. Forrest brought a suit for divorce and a long trial followed, which excited great public interest. Each party brought charges against the other, and the final decision was in favor of Mrs. Forrest, to whom it gave large alimony. Mr. Forrest appealed the case, but without success. The corespondent was George Jami-

After the settlement of this case Mrs. Forrest went on the stage. She studied under George Vandenhoff and first appeared as Lady Tearle, with more success than she attained in any of the parts that she afterward fried. The latter part of her life was spent in great quietness and seclusion.

A BIG BLAZE IN A LITTLE TOWN.

SEVENTEEN BUILDINGS BURNED IN VAILS-BURG, N. J.

A large fire broke out late last night in Vailsburg N. J., in South Orange township, and soon got beyond the control of the local firemen. Assistance was called for from Newark and several engines were sent under Chief Engineer Kiersted. The fire originated in the postoffice and spread rapidly to adjoining property. Six dwellings and nine barns, together with the postoffice and town hall were consumed. The fire was gotten under control before midnight. The loss is about $30,000, which is partly insured.

HORSES BURNED IN A LIVERY STABLE. The stable of Amos H. Van Horn, furniture dealer at No. 73 Market-st., Newark, was destroyed by fire early yesterday morning. Three horses were smothered and two others badly injured. The fire also consum two buggles and six business wagens. The flames communicated to a part of the store in front and a large stock of carpets was badly damaged. The office build-ing of the "Freic Zeitung" adjoining was also scorched. The total loss is about $12,000, which is fully covered by insurance.

IMDIANS RESIST THE TROOPS.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 23 .- The Assistant Adjutant-Seneral received the following dispatch from Lieutenant Brett, commanding a detachment in Kearn's Canon, Ariz., dated Areiba Village:

Ariz., dated Areiba Village:

Came to Areiba to arrest several Areibes, who have destroyed the surveyor's marks and threatened to destroy the schools. When we entered the village we were confronted by about fifty hostiles armed and stationed behind a barricade. They openly declared hostility to the Government and a fight was barely averted. A strong force should be sent here with Hotchkiss guns, as I anticipate serious trouble if the hostiles are not summarily dealt with.

Bumberg seized a cloak and tried to put out the flames, but only succeeded in severely burning himself about the hands and head. Samuel Birk and a boy, whose name is unknown, rushed up to her with rags and finally put out the fire. Mrs. Smoska was carried in an inconscious condition to a drug store and thence taken to Gouverneur Heapital. She will head the fire.

RAILROAD INTERESTS.

ALTON'S APPLICATION HEARD.

TESTIMONY SHOWING THAT REGULAR RATES ARE BEING CUT DAILY.

Chicago, June 23.-Chairman Finley heard arguments this afternoon for and against the application of the Chicago and Alton Railroad for authority to make a passenger rate of $10 from Chicago to Kansas City and $6 from Chicago to st. Louis. The Alton representative said that the regular rates of $12.50 and $7.50, respectively, were being cut daily by the sale of tickets through brokers' officers, and the evidence and arguments seemed to bear him out in this statement. general passenger agent admitted that his road was carrying out the agreement as to mileage ticket and testified that these tickets were practically good to bearer in a majority of cases. The chairman named two lines on which the use of mileage tickets was not satisfactory to him, and gave details respecting the misuse of tickets on such lines. The tests of brokers' officers and train conductors submitted to the chairman by members, and obtained by him direct, showe conclusively that rates were demoralized through irregular practices. These tests left no doubt that Wabash mileage is being extensively used between cheeseo and St. Louis, and is practically good to bearer. After a full hearing of the question, Chairman Finley took the matter under advisement, and was urged by the Alton to make a prompt decision. The Alton will wait a few days only before putting into effect the reduced rates. If Finley decides to allow the reduction the Alton will have justified its refusal to withdraw the $20 round trip excursion rate between Kansas City and Chicago.

THE LACKAWANNA BACKS DOWN.

IT WITHDRAWS THE SCHEDULE BASED ON DIFFERENTIAL TO THE NORTHWEST.

At the meeting of the executive committee of the Trunk Line Association yesterday the Luckawanna promised to withdraw the tariff schedule based on a ate of $1 20 first class from New-York to St. Paul, which it issued on Monday. This movement will avert all present probability of trouble in the associaon, and will for a time at least prevent the rate war which has been threatened.

The Lackawanna was represented yesterday by Traffic Manager B. A. Hageman. He seemed dispo to listen to the reasonings of his colleagues, and there was a decided feeling of relief in the committee-rowhen he announced his readiness to withdraw the $1 20 chedule, and leave his company's request for a diferential to the consideration of the executive com nittee and to Chairman Goddard. Mr. Goddard said that the Lackawanna had issued the reduced tariff under a misapprehension. Their request for a differential, he said, had not been acted on. He did not think it could possibly be granted, however, as the Lackawanna had no more claim to a differential than had other lines that crossed Lake

ATCHISON'S UNREDEEMED MILEAGE.

Chicago, June 23.-Truffic Manager O. G. Murray. the "Big Four"; General Passenger Agent Shattue, of the Ohio and Mississippi, and Vice-Chiffr-man F. C. Donald, of the Central Traffic Association, sat to-day as a board of arbitration hearing evidence in the case of the Rock Island Railroad against the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe. The case originated in the early part of last winter, when the Rock Island surchased from scalpers about 90,000 mile-tickets, ssued by the Atchison, and sent them to Chairman Finley for redemption under the agreement. The chairman ruled that the Atchison must redeem the tickets at the regular rates. That road appealed to the association, which sustained the chairman, but was subsequently allowed to take another appeal and ubmit the question to arbitration. At to-day's meeting the arbitrators simply heard testimony and requested the parties to present their arguments late in writing. The reason given by the Atchison for its refusal to redeem the tickets was that they had been ecured on forged orders.

Pleasure-seekers are offered a tempting opportunity to visit the Catskill Mountains next Saturday by the West Shore. That company will sell special excursion ickets to all points in the mountains at the rate the fare one way for the round trip, good on the special train leaving this city at 1 p. m. The prominent hotels have promised to make special rates to persons participating in this excursion.

DECREE OF FORECLOSURE ENTERED. Indianapolis, June 23.-In the Superior Court, yeserday, an agreed decree of foreclosure was entered against the old Indianapolis, Decatur and Western Rollroad to satisfy a mortgage of $1,500,000.

Boston, June 23.-Atchison officials say there is no truth whatever in the rumor that the Colorado Midland will be woven into the main system of the Atchison about October 1.

NO ACTION IN THE ALTON BOYCOTT. A meeting of the Board of Rulings of the Trunk Line and Central Traffic Associations will be held in this city on Thur-day. The presence of Chairman Blanchard, of the Central Traffic Association, in this city, and the tone of dispatches from the West have led to a report that the Board would declare the Alton boycott off. Passenger Commissioner L. P. Farmer said yesterday, however, that no such action was contemplated, and that there was no evidence of any immediate adjustment of the troubles with

DOLLY DAVIS SEES HER DOUBLE. SHE TESTIFIES BEFORE THE CORONER THAT SHE IS ALIVE.

Dolly Davis, whose name has been connected with the sensational suicide at Croton Landing, went there yester day from Coney Island to convince Coroner Sutton tha was alive and not the young woman who committed which bore a striking likeness to her own, she fainted and fell into the arms of a o stander. When Coroner Sutton saw Dolly Davis he stored at her, and finally said that the suicide was Dolly's double. The coroner's jury had de-cided that the suicide was Dolly Davis, but the burial permit which had been issued for the burial of the body of Dolly Davis was useless.

The Coroner took another look at Dolly, shook his head, and then swore in a jury to begin a new inquest Ceroner Sutton said that the first question to settle was whether the young woman who professed to be Dolly Davis

Davis after she had been adopted by J. Charles Davis and the latter's wife, Victoria Loftus. The witness said that she was now staying at Coney Island, and was surprised to read in newspapers that she had committed sufcide by jumping from a wharf at Crotoq Landing. ner Sutton asked the witness if there was any one pres

THE UNAL LEAGUE AND THE H. A. A.

THE LATEST DEVELOPMENT IN COLLEGE ATH-LETICS-A REMARKABLE TRIUMPH IN

THE SCIENCE OF OBSTRUCTION. the Editor of The Tribune Sir: I beg to call attention to the most recent development in college athletics, the Unal League in baseball. Like all other great advances, it springs from Cambridge. It owes its existence principally to the Harvard Athletic Association, known at Cambridge as the H. A. A. The H. A. A. has absolute control over the athleties of the university. It consists of three members of the faculty, three graduates an In semi-civilized Yale and three undergraduates. parbarous Princeton the faculty pass general rules and within those rules allow students absolute freedom. Thus the students know exactly what they can and what they calinot do. In Harvard this antiquated system was abandoned years ago. The students never know what they will be allowed to do until the H. A. A. has met-frequently not then. No one e knows one day (its members least of all) what the II. A. A. will do the next, but its general attitude toward the students is that of the thoughtful mother. who told her maid to find the children, see what they were doing and stop it. This may not do much good to athletics, but its moral effect cannot be overestimated. Life is full of weird and capricious changes The H. A. A. impresses this fact on the students.

Besides performing the functions that elsewhere pertain to the faculty, this body also undertakes executive duties somewhat similar to those of Mutrie in onnection with the New-York Baseball Club. It fixes dates, arranges series and acts generally as guide, philosopher and friend in every branch of athletics. Engagements made by team captains are annulled at pleasure, for good cause or for none at all. The advantages of this are obvious. If a team captain gets the better of a negotiation his act is never question but if the opposing team captain has the best of the bargain the H. A. A. with eagle eve pounces down, tears up the agreement, starts afresh, drafts a nev compact and demands a compliance with its exact wishes, under penalty of publishing an opponent the world as afraid to meet the invincible Harvards. Other colleges in the past have meekly yielded, but this year one was found unreasonable enough to insist upon the engagements made by the Harvard captain being kept, and, in spite of all remonstrances, to reject a programme in which the H. A. A. had embodied its preferences. From this arose the "Unal League." I will now trace the development of the Unal League. In time for the season of 1880 a college baseball association was formed consisting of some six seven members. This endured through the season of 1886, Yale winning the championship in every year but 1885, when Harvard won. Harvard and Princeton (then fast friends, though one can hardly believe it) withdrew and invited Yale and Columbia into a quadruple baseball league. Columbia soon withdrew, thus making a triple league. 1888 and 1889 Yale still kept winning the champion ship, and Harvard withdrew. For the season of 1890 Harvard and Yale formed a dual league in baseball and played a series in which Yale was again victorious. The result was equally unsatisfactory, whether the league consisted of six, four, three or two. H. A. A., not discouraged, hit upon a solution of the difficulty. They tore up existing agreements, ignored all but the most prominent of their old-time adversaries sent a challenge, which could not with self-respect be accepted, and upon its refusal, a newspaper championship was immediately established-won without pitching Thus was the Unal League perfected. The H. A. A.

it is understood, is determined to apply it to all branches of athletics. The league is to be kept select by abrogating all agreements and proposing others that are out of the question. This movement will be very unpopular in Yale, where herotofore the H. A. A. has almost worshipped. One Yale senior of sporting proclivities has stated that next to Bob Cook and Stage considered the H. A. A. as the most important contributor to his summer trips to Europe, which he had enjoyed greatly. But, strange to say, in Harvard, right in its own back yard, as it were, the H. A. A. has enemies. A prominent Harvard athlete was heard to vent his feelings not long ago with an emphasis which I will soften. He said that individually the members of the H. A. A. were good fellows, but that as a whole they were meddlesome, capricious and out of tone with the wishes of students and graduates; that no ple was too small for them to put their fingers into; that the faculty and graduate members of the H. A. A. were too young to impress the sindents with respect and too old to be in close sympathy with them; that the students were suffering from too much government they wanted was to be let alone, to manage their affairs without interference under such broad general rules and restrictions as might be proper; that it was better for them to make mistakes and learn by experience picked at by an outside body that it was undignified to the last extent for college professors to travel 200 or 300 miles to arrange baseball games as recently happened, especially when their efcoptain of the nine and not of outsiders to determine whether the nine would be in condition to meet certain opponents on certain dates, and that defeat was much be preferred to outside dictation on a topic like this

This Harvard athlete also accused the H. A. A. of being inconsistent and of not knowing its own mind. For instance, he said, Harvard in years past used to peng inconsistent and of not knowing its own mind. For instance, he said, Harvard in years past used to play some of her baseball and football games in New-York. Now that is prohibited. Various grounds of objection have been assigned. But forty or fifty contestants are allowed to contest in the intercollegiate field sports each year. Any objection to permitting nine men to play ball or eleven men to play football in New-York applies equally 16 The forty or fifty field athletes. It seemed cruel to remind him that Harvard generally lost in baseball and football and won in field athletes. Some one did so and the remark was passed without notice. He added that he thought there was still a healthy tone in athletics in Harvard, but that its normal development and progress had been throttled by too much interference and advice, and that if the students were allowed to solve their athletic problems for themselves for a year or two Harvard would soon regain her proper place in athletics, which she held for so many years.

By way of explanation it may be added that, in addition to the all powerful H. A. A. there is an advisory committee of three for each of the prominent sports, a conference committee on general athletics and an athletic committee of the Board of Overseers. The whole form about as perfect a Bureau of Obstruction as ever was devi-ed. Respectfully yours, New-York, June 22, 1891.

> NATIVE MOBS ATTACK MISSIONARIES AT WU HU AND OTHER PLACES.

San Francisco, June 23 .- "The North China Daily News" gives an account of riots by Chinese at Wu Hu. On the afternoon of May 12 a mob of Chine 4 nathered about the premises of the Catholic priests and broke through the walls, setting fire to the after driving out the missionaries and pillaging the palace. A mob then went to the English Consulate and destroyed considerable property. The arrival of Taotal, a local magistrate, and the coolness of the British Consul, saved the building from being set on fire. Next morning the crowd again set fire to the Custom House and the surrounding buildings, but the customs staff, fully armed, charged the natives and again put out the fires. In the afternoon three Chinese gunboats, which were escorting the Governor of Ankui up the river, arrived, and, learning of the iot, began to fire blank cartridges, which had the effect of frightening the mob.

They made no demonstrations against the Methodist Episcopal (American) mission, but advised by the British Consul, the missionaries also embarked on the rehsing, which brought them, together with the women and children of Wu Hu, to Shanghal. At Chian King the priests who escaped from Wu Hu in a boat were
